

DON'T SAY A WORD

By Linda Lamon © 2012

Don't say a word
I know that you are leaving
And don't have regrets
The wheel of fate is turning

Right now is the moment
To feel so many things
Hold on to those memories
What joy they can bring

Don't say a word
Send back those welling tears
Come, take my hand
Let's squeeze away the fears

To talk would only take away
The magic of this time
I ache when you try to say
You won't always be mine

INSTRUMENTAL

There's another way to meet again
Maybe one day we'll see
In a different place, we could remain
Together - that's how it could be.

So don't say a word
I know your heart is true
Remember what we've shared
You know I'll always love you.
